

What does it mean to volunteer?

Volunteering with the MHTRS is about helping Tasmanians to have their voice heard and be understood when decisions about their life and liberty are being made.

We can provide information about people's rights, and help to ensure their voice is heard when they appear before the Mental Health Tribunal.

Our trained Volunteers are based all around Tasmania.

Our service is free to all clients.

Interested in Volunteering?

We're here to help.

SUPPORTED BY

Your say
Advocacy Tasmania

What is the MHTRS?

The Mental Health Tribunal Representation Scheme provides support to people with mental health issues who are appearing before the Mental Health Tribunal. We help people who have to talk to the Mental Health Tribunal to have their say.

Who can help?

If you have a strong commitment to ensuring people's rights are upheld, have good communication skills, and have some free time we would like to hear from you.

We will train you!

We provide free training to make sure you can best assist our clients.

Your time commitment

You would need to be available for up to 2.5 hours for each hearing allocation. You determine your availability and frequency of representations.

First steps

Get started by undertaking a short eLearning Program at yoursaytas.org/volunteering

More information

If you need more information on the Scheme you can:

Call us on 1800 005 131 (extension 2010) and speak to our MHTRS Manager

Email mhrep@yoursaytas.org